1. VFW Statement on the State of VA: “The news media over the past week has reported on the disingenuous actions of a few political appointees in Washington who are attempting to undermine the support and confidence of America’s veterans in their Department of Veterans Affairs, as well as in the secretary and deputy secretary who lead it,” said Keith Harman, national commander of the 1.7 million-member Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States and its Auxiliary. “Let there be no mistake that veterans and this Administration can lay claim to a host of successes ranging from increased accountability and transparency to a beefed-up education package and increases in overall funding and patient satisfaction,” he said. “As reported in the press, the acts of these individuals have become a cancer inside this Administration. They sow doubt, they create turmoil, and their ideological agenda clearly puts outside interests ahead of the care and well-being of millions of wounded, ill and injured veterans. I now call on President Trump to clean house of these distractors. We need a fully functioning VA, not distractions or self-inflicted headlines. That’s what veterans of today and tomorrow expect and definitely deserve.”

2. WWI Memorial Sculpture Unveiling: On Wednesday, the World War I Centennial Commission held an unveiling ceremony of the sculpture that will be the focal point of the National WWI Memorial. The ceremony was intended to give veterans’ advocates and other stakeholders a rare opportunity to see a 3-D rendering of what the final sculpture will look like. VFW National Legislative Service Deputy Director John Towles was in attendance along with other members of the veterans’ community and members of Congress. The sculptor, Mr. Sabin Howard, provided remarks concerning his own connection to WWI, and explained the underlying story behind the sculpture. The sculpture, dubbed “A Soldiers Journey,” is comprised of five distinct panels and highlights the key events that embodied the journey to war that millions of Americans made beginning in 1917: departure, initiation, ordeal, aftermath, and return. Read more.

3. VFW-SVA Fellow Speaks on Improving Education Benefits: On Thursday, VFW-SVA Fellow Francheska Salazar joined other student veterans in a panel on Capitol Hill to share her experiences being a student veteran. Francheska spoke about the hurdles she faced in her transition to school and the path toward her degree. Each year the VFW joins with Student Veterans of America to bring 10 student veterans to Washington, D.C., to advocate for issues they face ranging from education and employment to VA health care. 4. Forever GI Bill Education Benefit Restoration: VA recently updated their website on opportunities for veterans to potentially restore and utilize their education benefits. A provision was added to the Forever GI Bill to allow student veterans whose benefits were wasted at schools that abruptly closed to seek restoration of those benefits. Also added was an extension of benefits for students pursuing STEM degrees, full eligibility for Purple Heart recipients, removal of the expiration date for veterans who left service after January 2013, and many other provisions for veterans, families and survivors. The VFW strongly supported these additions and worked closely with Congress and our veterans' community partners on this legislation. 5. TRICARE West Transition Delay: The National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2017 directed many changes regarding the TRICARE program, including the consolidation of three TRICARE service areas into two, and a change in managed care support contractors overseeing those regions. On Thursday, the Defense Health Agency (DHA) published an update regarding some of the challenges that beneficiaries are experiencing in the TRICARE West Region, such as referral backlogs, call wait times, enrollment backlogs, and expanded provider network delivery. DHA and Health Net Federal Services (HNFS) are actively working to mitigate many of these challenges by waiving the standard authorization process for TRICARE Prime referrals in the West Region until March 18, 2018, hiring additional staff for HNFS call centers, expediting the enrollment of beneficiaries, and updating the network provider directory for the West Region. If you are currently in the TRICARE West Region and are experiencing any of the issues mentioned, please visit the TRICARE West website.

6. Learn More about Camp Lejeune Benefits: VA issued a video regarding benefits available to veterans and their family members who suffer from conditions related to contaminated water at Camp Lejeune. The video is part of VA's outreach efforts on this issue and includes available options and contact information. The team of professional, highly trained VFW Service Officers can help you file claims related to Camp Lejeune water contamination.
